

ABSTRACT

An apparatus including a plurality of devices formed on a substrate, and a scribe line area separating each of the plurality of devices, and a masking material overlying a portion of the scribe line area.

1. A substrate including a plurality of devices formed on the substrate, and a scribe line area separating each of the plurality of devices, and a masking material overlying a portion of the scribe line area.